

Hi everyone,

We hope you are all continuing to keep well, safe and happy. To follow on from last week's online learning, we are again providing weekly links to Oak National Academy to support and enhance the current online learning packs.

The following links will provide learning opportunities for Literacy, Mathematics and Personal, Social and Emotional development.

As part of our literacy focus upon traditional tales, we would like to provide links to access learning about 'Little Red Riding Hood'.

Please read/ access the online story:

Then to do the Oak academy learning please follow this link:

We would also like to provide a link to practice solving mathematical problems. This week we are aiming to secure understanding of sharing into equal groups using the follow link.

Also to help your child talk about how they are feeling we are providing a link to a lesson that encourages them to link their emotions to a colour and then to use this idea to create an emotions 'monster'.

We hope this has provided some helpful links and just to remind you these activities are optional and voluntary.

Thank you for your continued support.

We will be back in touch with updates very soon.
